World Book Day

It was lovely to see the children with their favourite books yesterday. It is obvious that David Walliams is a big hit with our children but a great range of books had been chosen by the children. Children are sent a voucher which entitles them to a free book – one of which, The Blob, is written by Davis Walliams. Unfortunately, there are no outlets in Cinderford who provide the books for world Book Day (perhaps we should set up a campaign for next year!) so staff are attempting to collect some on behalf of the children during the weekend.

Thank you!

A big thank you to Mr and Mrs Dickinson who pick up and transport the logs for our log circle – your kindness is very much appreciated.

Twitter

We now have an official Twitter page so that we can share some of the magic moments that happen in school. Follow us on @SteamMillsPri

Red Nose Day

Red noses are now available at the school office priced £1.

Christmas Shoebox Appeal

This month we are collecting small toys eg teddies, games etc. that would fit in a shoebox. Please, no guns/water pistols etc.
